Two Fairs at Half Fare;
Exposition Rates Cut In Two

The railroads have greatly reduced their fares and made it possible for you to see both the San Francisco and San Diego Expositions on one ticket. By way of the Burlington Route (C. & N. R. 1.) the cost of a railroad ticket to California and back will be only about one-half the usual price, and you can take in the incomparable Colorado scenery, including the Royal Gorge, see Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo and Salt Lake City on the way, stopping off at any point desired.

Returning, you may enjoy a sea trip up the coast to Portland, see Tacoma, Seattle and Spokane, and either Glacier National Park or Yellowstone Park—the wonders of the world.

You don't take a trip like this very often. You should see the best scenery on route and not spend any more than is necessary to do it. Tell me when you plan to go, how long you can stay, and let me make an itinerary to fit your particular needs. Let me explain and why the Burlington can save you best. I'll be glad to do it. Write, telephone or call.

U.S. AID AFTER WAR SPURRED IN BERLIN

Newspapers Answer President Wilson's Address on Attitude of This Country.

AMSTERDAM, Holland, April 22.—Commenting on the address of President Wilson at the luncheon of the Associated Press in New York April 20, the Vossische Zeitung of Berlin says: "We could believe in the inclination of the United States after the war to play the role to which President Wilson refers, namely, 'to prepare assistance' for both belligerent parties." If Americans during the war had acted in accordance with the principle of assistance to neither side.

"The purveyors of arms and ammunition to adversaries cannot all of a sudden pretend to be the impartial friend of all belligerents in the negotiations at the conclusion of war."

Says President Is Mistaken. The Lokal Anzeiger says: "President Wilson is mightily mistaken if he imagines his sort of neutrality will be acknowledged and valued by the belligerents as fair play. It is impossible for Germany and her allies to esteem as a sign of 'self-control' one-sided patronage by the continued toleration of a most extensive supply of arms, combined with humble endurance of all English oppression of neutral commerce."

So far as Germany is concerned President Wilson need not trouble about preparations for help after the war."

Mr. Wilson's Remark. The ideas expressed by President Wilson and referred to in their comment by these two German newspapers doubtless are found in the following paragraph:

"Let us think of America before we think of Europe, in order that America may be fit to be Europe's friend."

The day of tested friendship comes. The test of friendship is not now sympathy with the one side or the other, but getting ready to help both sides when the struggle is over."

Business conditions in Switzerland are practically normal again and there is an abundant supply of foodstuffs in the country, according to a statement issued today by the Swiss legation, which says: "During the last few weeks general business conditions in Switzerland have shown marked improvement. The country has been slowly but steadily recovering from the depression which resulted from the war."

"While the whole army had been mobilized at the outbreak of hostilities the Swiss federal council found it possible to demobilize about half the forces with the advent of winter."

"The general industrial activity suffered therefore only a brief interruption, and all the Swiss factories are not only active, but their output has greatly increased during the last few months."

"If there ever existed any anxiety about the food question the same has proven entirely unnecessary. The country has an abundant supply of foodstuffs of every description, and the cost of living has by no means increased."

Hotels Reduce Rates. "That the conditions in Switzerland are normal is furthermore illustrated by the fact that practically all the hotels are open, and that these establishments have actually announced a reduction of their rates."

"As a further proof of improving conditions in Switzerland, it may be pointed out that the Swiss government railroads' earnings have lately again reached a mark not far below that of previous years."

"While Switzerland offers at present a temporary home to thousands of unfortunate refugees, a great number of wealthy families from the warring nations are also making their residence there."

"Many Americans have lately asked whether it is possible to visit Switzerland in spite of the war. The answer to this is that visitors will be as welcome as ever in that country."

Swiss Buying Here. "Since the outbreak of the war the Swiss government, who used to be good client of several of the warring nations, has been heavily buying foodstuffs and raw materials in the United States, and it goes without saying that these commercial transactions will do much to further develop relations of trade and of friendship between the two republics."

MAKE FLEA FOR FRANK. Attorneys Ask Georgia Governor to Commute Death Sentence.

ATLANTA, April 22.—Attorneys for Leo M. Frank today filed a petition with Gov. Elation and the Georgia prison commissaires asking that the sentence of death imposed upon Frank for the murder of Mary Phagan be commuted to life imprisonment.

ARMY MANEUVERS BEGIN. "Whites" Believed Bent on Capture of Houston, Tex.

HOUSTON, Tex., April 22.—War maneuvers between two equal forces, forming the 2d Division of the United States Army in camp at Texas City and Galveston, under command of Maj. Gen. J. Franklin Bell, opened in earnest today before daylight, and already the prairies and towns south of Houston are swarming with soldiers.

The Brown army, under command of Col. R. L. Bullard, broke camp before sunrise and departed south, presumably to meet the White army, last heard from officially several miles south of here, and under command of Col. M. F. Waltz.

While nothing official is vouchsafed, it has been accepted as a fact that the mission of the White army is to capture Houston.

Probing Alleged Anarchist Band. ERIE, Pa., April 22.—Four more arrests were made today in connection with the explosion of a dynamite bomb under the house of Samuel Leonoff, resulting in the death of Leonoff and the injury of thirteen other persons, yesterday. The twenty-four prisoners are members of an alleged anarchist society, of which the police say they are members, and which plotted the death of a number of Erie citizens.

STRANDED AMERICANS MUST BE BROUGHT BACK

LONDON, April 22.—The board of trade has taken vigorous steps to prevent the abandonment in England by steamship companies of American seamen and their families, who are coming over now in large numbers with shipments of army horses.

R. P. Skinner, American consul general in London, has been advised that British steamship lines have been instructed to provide return passages to America regardless of alleged contracts and other mooted questions.

CALUMET & HECLA JUMPS. Copper Stock Makes Extraordinary Advance Since Saturday.

BOSTON, April 22.—Calumet & Hecla, which closed at 5.17 Saturday, reached 6.30 today, the advance being due to a rise in the selling price of copper metal.

GUNS BOOM OFF JERSEY. British Cruiser Believed to Have Engaged in Target Practice.

HIGHLANDS, N. J., April 22.—One of the British cruisers doing patrol duty off the entrance of New York harbor alarmed residents in this vicinity shortly after noon today by opening fire with her heavy guns, causing detonations which shook windows along the coast. The cruiser was apparently engaged in target practice.

Residents along the coast rushed from their dinner tables to witness the firing, which lasted twenty minutes. Wild rumors circulated that a German submarine had appeared and was being attacked, but this was merely conjecture, as the marine observers saw no sign of any vessels except the cruiser.

Drought Injures Hemp Crop. A drought throughout a portion of the hemp districts of the Philippine Islands which already has produced an estimated crop reduction below normal of 35 per cent is still prevailing, according to cable advices from Gen. Gen. Harrison.

CAR ROUTE PROTESTED. Shoreham Hotel Objects to Proposed Fifteenth Street Line.

The Shoreham Hotel, through Attorney S. S. Tyler, today filed with the public utilities commission a protest against the proposed of the Capital Traction Company to build a single track on 15th street from I street to Pennsylvania avenue northwest. It is claimed that such an extension would greatly increase congestion of traffic on 15th street. The company originally applied for permission to extend its lines on 17th and I streets northwest. Both proposals will be considered by the commission at a public hearing to be held May 26.

Little Stories for Bedtime

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.
(Copyright, 1915, by J. G. Lloyd.)

Old Mr. Toad Gives Peter a Scare.

If you play pranks on other folks you may be sure that they will take the first chance that they get to joke on you to boot.

When Peter Rabbit had turned over the old board under which Old Mr. Toad had been changing his suit he had not intended it as a prank. The fact is he hadn't known who was under it. But Old Mr. Toad was considerably put out, the more so as Peter had laughed and laughed at him as he struggled to get out of and swallow his old suit. Now he was getting even. While Peter's back had been turned Old Mr. Toad had disappeared.

It was too much for Peter. Look as he would he couldn't see so much as a chip under which Old Mr. Toad might have hidden, excepting the old board, and Old Mr. Toad had given his word of honor that he wouldn't hide under that. Nevertheless Peter hopped over to it and turned it over again because he couldn't think of any other place to look. Of course, Old Mr. Toad wasn't there. Of course not. He had given his word that he wouldn't hide there, and he always lives up to his word.

word. Peter should have known better than to have looked there.

Old Mr. Toad had also said that he would not go three feet from the spot where he was sitting at the time, so Peter should have known better than to have raved up the Crooked Little Path as he did. But if Old Mr. Toad had nothing to hide under, of course, he must have hopped away, reasoned Peter. He couldn't hop far in five minutes, that was sure, and so Peter ran this way and that way a great deal farther than it would have been possible for Old Mr. Toad to have gone. But it was a wholly useless search, and presently Peter returned and sat down on the very spot where he had last seen Old Mr. Toad. Peter never had felt more foolish in all his life. He began to think that Old Mr. Toad must be bewitched and had some strange power of making himself invisible.

For a long time Peter sat perfectly still trying to puzzle out how Old Mr. Toad had disappeared, but the more he puzzled over it the more impossible it seemed. And yet Old Mr. Toad had disappeared. Suddenly Peter gave a frightened scream and jumped higher than he ever had jumped before in all his life. A voice, the voice of Old Mr. Toad himself, had said, "Well, now are you satisfied?" And that voice had come from right under Peter. Do you wonder that he was frightened? When he turned to look there sat Old Mr. Toad right where he himself had been sitting a moment before. Peter rubbed his eyes and gaped very foolishly.

"Wh—wh—where did you come from?" he stammered at last.

Old Mr. Toad grinned. "I'll show you," said he. And right while Peter was looking at him he began to sink down into the ground until only the top of his head could be seen. Then that disappeared. Old Mr. Toad had gone down and the sand had fallen right back over him. Peter just had to rub his eyes again. He had to. Then to make sure he began to dig away the sand where Old Mr. Toad had been sitting. In a minute he felt Old Mr. Toad, who at once came out. Old Mr. Toad's beautiful eyes twinkled more than ever. "I guess we are even now, Peter," said he.

Peter nodded. "More than that, Mr. Toad, I think you have a little the best of it," he replied. "Now won't you tell me how you did it?"

Old Mr. Toad held up one of his stout hind feet, and on it was a kind of spur. "There's another just like that on the other foot," said he, "and I use them to dig with. You go into a hole head first, but I go in the other way. I make my hole in soft earth and back into it at the same time, this way." He began to work his stout hind feet, and as he kicked the earth out he backed in at the same time. When he was deep enough the earth just fell back over him, for you see it was very loose and not packed down at all. When he once reappeared Peter thanked him. Then he asked one more question.

"Is that the way you go into winter quarters?"

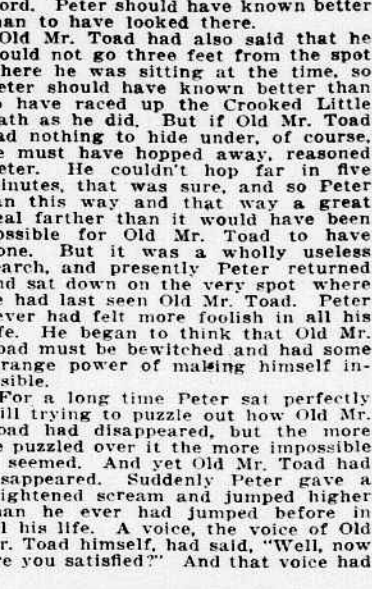

Old Mr. Toad nodded. "And it's the best I escape from my enemies," he added.
